BRISTOL. Eng. (CP)—Along one wall in a huge research hangar a "mock-up" of the world's biggest landplane is taking shape—the Bristol Brabazon, which is planned to carry 72 passengers non-stop from London to New York.

Sketches published recently of this government-approved monster gave some indication of its size, but to examine the half of the fuselage now completed in two dis a fantastic experience.

The "Bristot Type 167"—it is popularly known as the Brabazon for Lord Brabazon, former Minister of Alreraft Production, who headed the committee which accepted the design—will be ready sportly in the present schedule is maintained.

It is Britain's entry in the postwar race for supremency in trans-ocyan flying and is not by any mekans the only civilian aliceraft now in the "mock-up" or prototype stage.

I saw this fuselage in a plant operated by the Bristol Aeroplane Company for the British Ministry of Aircraft production. Overshadowed by the Brabazon, which will have an all-up weight of 250,000 pounds, are the prototype of a new Bristot freighter which is scheduled to fly mexically and the scheduled to fly mexically and the scheduled to fly mexically and the more than 18 grown to have a surfaced and an almost completed mock-up of a new-type helicopter, the subject of many months' in tensive research.

It is with the freighter that this section of the British aircraft industry hopes to get into the Canadian market Early next.

CHURCHILL VS. ATTLEE

BRITONS WILL GO THE POLLS TOmorrow to elect a new government. Those, who have become 21 years of age since November, 1935, will cast a ballot for the first time in a general election. The new Parliament will have a membership of 640-25 more seats than the last-and the will have 1,679 candidates from which to choose it. There were only three acclamations-probably the smallest number of unopposed returns in the long parliamentary record—as against 40 in 1935. Eighty-seven candidates are women, the largest list ever to seek election, and a score more than in the general contest nearly a decade ago. In 265 ridings the fight will be between two candidates; in 293 three aspirants will do battle: in 44 there are four nominees; in 10 five; and sextettes are making their appeal in six.

It is no exaggeration to say that the attention of the English-speaking world has followed the campaign whose last shot will have been fired by the time this is read, But the results will not be known until July 26-after the meeting of the "Big Three," to which Mr. Churchill, incidentally, will be ompanied by former Deputy-Prime Minister Clement Attlee, his chief political opponent. But as these two men have shared inisterial responsibility for the conduct of Britain's magnificent war effort, and since the nation's foreign policy is not partitioned by partizan fences, the continuation of teamwork in this important regard is symbolic of a united front towards the outside world. Indefinite political unity on Britain's domestic front, however, was neither expected nor desired. The immediate enemy no longer kicking up a rumpus in the garden; this was the condition to which the political parties had looked forvard from the day the official truce went into effect. For if there is one thing the average Briton takes seriously, and engages with might and main on every conceivable occasion it is his politics. So members of the coalition government began to examine their political arsenals and get out their weapons as soon as It became obvious an early general election was inevitable.

TRADED HEAVY BLOWS

CONSERVATIVE AND LABOR LEADERS have barred no holds. Both have given and taken some stiff punches. The Prime Minister and his supporters have wound up their campaign with an inquiry as to whether, if elected to office, the Laborites under Mr. Attlee would be more or less controlled by Professor Laski, the leftist chairman of the Labor Party's executive committee. Mr. Churchill's former deputy has replied that the executive committee has no control over the Labor members of Parliament. But he is "sorry" the Prime Minister is "so distressed," owing to what Mr. Attlee describes as his "lack of acquaintance with the ordinary procedure of democratic parties in general and the Lagor Party in This rejoinder, however, interpreted by the Conservative Daily Mail MR. It is no less difficult to see how such a policy could be reconciled with the declared purpose of the Bretton Woods agreements to remove barriers and promote the growth of multilateral trade. If there is a wide difference between the interpretation of these agreements by British officials and by our own, the question should be clarified beyond dispute before the (Bretton Woods) agreements

Good friends of Great Britain in the United States, encouraged by the fact that the apostles of tariff restrictions in that country have at last accepted the principle that there is no such thing as a one-way trade, will also find it difficult to reconcile the Beaverbrook-Amery gospel with those high resolves for international and economic and almost every other form of co-operation inherent in the phraseology of the Charter of San Francisco. Mr. Attlee thus might have asked what control Lord Beaverbrook would be able to exercise in the event of a government victory tomorrow. But Mr. Churchill wants all the trade he can get,

A CLOSER LINK

THERE WAS A SIGNIFICANCE NOT THE MAN WITH THE HOE limited to the dignified messages of good will transmitted from Canada's major radio station to the U.S.S.R. on Dominion Day. The event marked the initiation of talks direct from the station to the Russian people. The program was opened by an address in Russian by Canada's ambassador to that country. Hon, Dana I. subject of the printed word-printed, incidentally, to suit the mood of the moment. A certain number of Anglo-Saxon visitors returned to the Dominion to paint their particular pictures of the land of the Soviets. But, unfortunately, those pictures were largely conditioned by the subjective treatment they received. And Canadian reaction depended, to a large extent, on the distribution systems through which they reached the reading public. Censorship naturally placed many honest reporters filing stories from Russia at a disadvantage. consequently, the Russian enigma remained an enigma to a marked degree. This does not suggest that radio broadcasts would be free of official control and reach this country with a completely sincere reproduction of the average Russian's thoughts about this Dominion. But if it were beamed to Canada, as Canada's Dominion Day broadcast was sent to the Soviet listening public, the measure of the understanding it could accomplish would be very material.

A common cause in the war in Europe, a closer exchange between the two countries both through merchant shipping and wartime aviation, and now a more closely-tied link through the spoken word may create greater confidence between the two neighors of benefit to both. Sunday's broadcas reflected the growing mutual interest among the peoples of the two countries.

UPHOLDING TRADITION

ALTHOUGH IT IS NEARLY A YEAR ago since H.M.S. Nabob, the Canadianmanned aircraft carrier, sustained her all but mortal wound off North Cape, Norway, yesterday's release of the item struck a responsive chord in Victoria hearts as citizens learned one more story of gallantry in action of their sons. It was another epic of seamanship—the return of the damaged vessel through gales to safe anchorage in a British port. Tributes have already been extended to Capt. H. N. Lay, O.B.E., R.C.N., the commanding officer, whose friends in this city are legion. And with those tributes have gone warm commendation to the Victoria men who played their traditional part in the heroic journey.

There is a vital element here. If the Canadian broadcast is followed by a return of the compliment from Moscow, the interchange of ideas and the sponsorship of amicable relations may be of immeasurable value to each of the countries. Until air travel through Edmonton and Alaska brought these two neighbors close together, Russia, to the average Canadian, was a subject of the printed word—printed, inbeen told about this. WE SAY GOOD-BYE XX

BRINGING 'em back alive calls for different kind of equip-ment than we had. We called off the hunt and told our guide to get us back to the lodge in the shortest and quickest possible way. It was then about 11 in way. It was then about 1 in the merning. By sundown he had brought us out of the jungle onto a fairly good dirt road that par-alled the Brahmaputra River on its meandering course to within a few miles of Vince's lodge.

All the way back Gingles and Tony and I carried our baby leopards in our laps, and by the time we climbed down out of our saddles along about midnight we needed clean, dry clothes worse than we had ever needed them before. In the days to come we were to learn that the leopard kittens were a feeding problem.

The cats were as tired as their The cats were as tired as their captors by the time we reached the lodge. After they each had a stipper of milk—which we dribbled into their tiny mouths from the tip of a spoon — they were perfectly content to curl up again with their ferocious little heads on each other's bellies and go sound asleep on a thick Oriental rug, which we took from the living room for that purpose and ing room for that purpose and put in the butler's quarters. With them safely stowed away, Gingiss and Tony and I sat down to our own midnight snack. Until the small hours of the morning, we sat talking about what we were going to do with our charges. Much earlier, as we jogged down the river road on our elephants, we had decided on names for the cats. Gingiss, insisting that there was a resemblance to a girl in Calcutta, had named his Margot. And since

(To be continued) Tony, whenever he was feeling his drinks, had a tendency to go into a certain very corny dance routine, it was only natural that he would call his Suzy Q. Another reason for those selections, of course, was that theirs were left set with the work of the work of the set of th were lady cats. Gingiss and I were afraid that it was going to be goodbye to Tony Mercede, too, because downing for word from him in Calcutta we heard nothing. Finally we went ahead with our own plans, arranging transportation to Karachi and Bombay, and by liner across the Arabian Sea to Durbin, South Africa. From there we would take the train to Cape town, where we hoped to get passage on a convoy or troopship returning to the States. Two days before we were to leave by plane for Karachi we received word from Tony that he would join us in Calcutta on the fifteenth. Al from Tony that he would join us in Calcutta on the fifteenth. Al Privensal brought the message, having arranged to spend a few days with us in the city before we left, and we sent word to Tony through the pilot who had brought Pri down that we would meet him in Kerachi instead meet him in Karachi instead Then Gingiss and Pri and I started making the rounds of the bars and night clubs and theatres. Right at home you can now mix and use a preparation which should solve your gray hair problem. It gives those graying treases a touch of youth and beauty, makes you look years younger and more attractive.

Get from your druggist one ounce hay rum, one-fourth ounce giyeering ane box Orlex Compound. Mix in half-pint of water or have druggist prepare for you at small cost. Simply comb into the hair as directed. Gray, taded, streaked hair gradually darkens, and takes on new color and beauty. This color is easily maintained, does not wash out or affect permanents. So gradual is the change that it is hardly noticed by anyone. That your hair was ever gray is soon forgotten.

If you want a professional looking job of hair tinting at home cut out and nake this Orlex recipe to your druggist proday. It's easy to use and money today. It's easy to use and money to the force of the fact. Home cooking and miscellaneous stalls were in charge of Mrs. W. Scafe, Mrs. O. Olson assisted by Mesdames H. A. Brain, Rachel and Valcourt. THREE CHEERS!... MOM'S MADE MORE JAMS AND JELLIES

Yes, families always cheer for home-made jams and jellies. Wives and mothers who first took to jam and jelly making in the war years soon learned this.

And they found that making jam and jelly with CERTO is enjoyable . . . it's so quick, easy and sure!

Don't miss any fresh fruit bargains this year. Make your jams and jellies with CERTO. You'll

PUBLISHED by the Sports College a pamphlet entitled "How to Play Better Baseball" is one of the finest editions of its kind I have ever come across. Edited by Lloyd Percival, head coach, it gives all the funamentals of the game and provides a would-be ball player with every bit of information possible to secure from a book. I fully realize that a ball player cannot learn how to play the sport from reading but a good knowledge of the rudiments of the game are invaluable. The practical end will always come later. Included in the booklet is advec on hitting stance, placing the ball, bunting, how to practice hitting, fielding tips, how to improve your throwing, pitching action, along with some special hints on tactics, training stunts and tips for players and coaches. For such a condensed book it rates tops. sed book it rates top Eagles came up with a 4 to 3 victory over the pacesetting spotlight at the Athletic Park to night when the Army and Navy clash in a city league bell game, starting at 6.30.

In their last appearance the Army played heads up ball to blank the R.C.A.F. while the Navy suffered a shutout at the hands of the league-leading V.M.D. Sallors need a win to keep within striking distance of the shipbuilders while the Army will be after the two points to move farther ahead of the last. Don Johnson or Lefty Pawluk will hurl for the Navy with Edwards or Rosedale the likely choice for the Army.

Legies came up with a 4 to 3 victory over the pacesetting the fourth race, to make the second daily double worth $65.50.

Boston stopped Detroit 4 to 0 as Jim Wilson came up with one of the first, to Sariworth, victor in the second, paid $21.25.

Margin Requirements

On Stocks Raised

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the aim of reducing stock market speculation, the United States Federal Reserve Board has raised the margin requirements from 50 to 75 per cent—the highest ever.
Effective tomorrow, anyone in the United States buying stock Exchange securities must put up 75 per cent of the price himself, and can borrow only 25 per cent from his banker or hocker.

By NANCY HODGES RE-EDUCATING NAZIS

ALTHOUGH THE WAR against Germany has been won, the battle against Nazi thinking still goes on.
And it is more and more coming to be

And it is more and more coming to be recognized that, as long their super-race idea—which killed 25,000,000 men, women and children—remains, so long will the rest of the world be menaced.

But how to re-educate them? How to remove the vicious doctrines which have been instilled into them from babyhood.

How to convince them that such patterns of life and "lebensraum" don't pay in a rapidly-shrinking world?

NO FRATERNIZATION

VARIOUS MEASURES are being suggested from various sources as part of the plan to induce a reorientation of the German attitude.

As one means of counteracting the in-sufferable Nazi arrogance and making them feel like pariahs in a world of decent people, Canadian, British and American soldiers with the Army of Occupation have been forbidden to fraternize with the German people.

Our soldiers over there are being con-

Our soldiers over there are being constantly exhorted: "Keep your distance; keep your eyes open; keep your guard up!"

Despite what our men have been through at the hands of the Nazis, despite the Buchenwald and Belsen camp revelations, it isn't always easy for them to "keep their"

INNATELY CHIVALROUS

FOR THE ANGLO-SAXON way of life teaches people to be innately decent, innately chivalrous.

It comes naturally to our men to be generous to a fallen foe, to have the sporting instinct not to kick a man when he is down. And such sentiments are to be com-mended. But it doesn't pay in dealing with Huns. They mistake such decency for weak-

So sterner measures have to be adopted in our attitude toward them if ever we are going to feel really safe.

Exchange securities must put up 75 per cent of the price himself, and can borrow only 25 per cent from his banker or broker.

The board also ruled that, beginning July 16, if a person sells some of the securities in an account and those do not measure up to the 75 per cent requirement, he must use the proceeds to raise the margin to that amount.

Exams in Medicine

IT ISN'T ENOUGH just to disarm Germany I nor even to take and keep weapons from them as one would from a homicidal maniac. We have to disarm them of their per-nicious ideas, root out their deeply-sown lust

And it isn't going to be easy. We shall have to stand up against those well-inten-tioned but misguided people who are pre-pared to forgive and forget!

That is why I am glad to see that great churchman Dr. Cyril Garbett, the Archbishop of York, come out on the subject.

His views have been published under the title of "The Christian Churches and International Peace," and read in part:

"Where there is no repentance, forgiveness is immoral, if by forgiveness we mean readmission of the offender to the fellowship he has broken, and treating him as if he had committed no wrong.

mitted no wrong.

"It would not be Christian but unchristian if we sald we forgave a Germany which showed no sign of a change of heart. . . .

"It will not, however, be sufficient to dis-arm Germany. Two generations of Germans have drunk in false aid pernicious propaganda, and have learned to regard as good what the Christian knows is evil."

THE ARCHBISHOP goes on to say that their conversion cannot be achieved by either material force or by outside agencies.

And takes the stand that it must be done by the German churches themselves, of whom, he is confident, many have secretly deplored the crimes committed by their rulers.

Still another recommendation comes from an American group, known as the Institute on Re-education of the Axis Countries.

This institute has just made a study establishing standards for the readmission of Germany into the family of nations.

And its report on Germany recommends that the educational system of that country be under the direct control of Allied military authorities during the entire occupational period.

ARD LESSONS

A MONG THE "hard lessons" which the report, are included:

Respect of individual human beings of whatever race, color or creed; a new respect for truth as a basis for knowledge and human conduct; respect for the fundamental moral and spiritual values of human society.

Together with a realization that individuals who comprise the state share responsibilities for the acts of the state.

And that the Germans must learn to face

And that the Germans must learn to face the facts of the crimes committed by Ger-many, both inside her own borders and in the other countries she occupied.

IN PACIFIC ZONE

A FTER THAT AMERICAN report, I was interested to read the views of an English headmaster as to how he would re-educate Axis youth.

His plan is to give them free training for eight years in large boarding schools.

But he wouldn't have those schools in Germany—or Japan or Italy. He would remove them far from their home influence-and the danger of insidious propaganda So he would put them in the Pacific islands or in other suitable places.

And would base the curricula on the Christian religion, Plato, modern science and mathematics—while the language would be

A LONG PROCESS

THIS TRAINING, in his opinion, would root out the ideas spread by the Nazi youth movement.

Perhaps it would—if one could get hold of the children at an early age, before they could become impregnated with "superman"

But I still think it will be a long process before we can make the German people amenable to a fundamental reorientation of their attitudes toward life, codes of be-haviour, and moral and spiritual values. And ready to acknowledge that, in the long run, the ploughshare is a far more effective weapon than the sword.
